Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. Claims 2 and 4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. In claim 2, line 8, the term "flow control/shock absorbing seal" lacks proper antecedent basis. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 1, 3 and 5 are finally rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Tsao (US 5,702,035) discloses a slender tubular container with two ends 62,63, 72,73 with a seal 66 separating a liquid chamber and an air chamber. The housing is pressurized because under pressure, the silicone clings to the walls of the a container. The housing has notch 65 for opening the housing. Although it is not clear if the notch was scored, it would have been obvious to do so since they are equivalent structural feature. Also, it would have been obvious to provide a sealed end 83 on the absorbing element 62,72 to prevent premature leakage. With regard to claim 5, when the liquid is not in the housing, it contains two air chambers.

In response to applicant's argument concerning claim 5, a recitation of the intended use of the claimed invention must result in a structural difference between the claimed invention and the prior art in order to patentably distinguish the claimed invention from the prior art. If the prior art structure is capable of performing the intended use, then it meets the claim. In a claim drawn to a process of making, the intended use must result in a manipulative difference as compared to the prior art. See In re Casey, 152 USPQ 235 (CCPA 1967) and In re Otto, 136 USPQ 458, 459 (CCPA 1963).

Applicant also argues that the tubular container has only one sealed end. But Taso specifically disclose on column 2 that the hollow barrel 61 includes an absorbing element 62 at an applicator end and a second sealed has a sealing element 63. It is clear therefore that both ends are sealed.

Allowable Subject Matter

4. Claims 2 and 4 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph.

Conclusion

5. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.

Art Unit: 3728
